The UK has helped write countless classic stories. Whether it's a Christie classic in Devon, Bram Stoker's Dracula in Whitby or Sherlock Holmes (125 this year!) there's a place for every reader to live their favourite tales.

To help celebrate National Read a Book Day (6th September 2017), the bookworms at cottages.com have created a map to help you pin down the best of Britain's literary locations: <http://www.cottages.com/inspire-and-explore/iloveyouk/literary-locations>

For more information and to book, visit cottages.com or call 0345 498 6900.

Bram's View – Whitby

Property reference: 28336

Located on Whitby's West Cliff with wonderful sea views, this apartment hosted Bram Stoker when he created Dracula!

With this year marking 120 years since its original publication – and Stoker's 170th birthday in November – there's no better time to visit.

Close to the cliff lift to the beach, Pavilion Theatre and swimming pool, guests can walk along the seafront or climb the steps to Whitby's iconic abbey.

With boat trips, historic sites to explore and loads of other activities, guests can follow in Stoker's footsteps and create their very own classic story.

PRICE: £320 (£20.02pppn)* for four nights' self-catered accommodation arriving 30th October 2017. Sleeps four in two bedrooms with one pet welcome. To book, visit www.cottages.com or call 0345 498 6900.

The Coach House – Birnam, nr. Dunkeld

Property reference: 24024

Once the holiday home of Beatrix Potter and her family in the 1890s, the Coach House is a listed property.

Set in an elevated position on a quiet private road in the Victorian conservation village of Birnam, this cottage has its own garden and lots of walking, cycling, golf and fishing nearby.

With castles, gardens and distilleries too, guests will find plenty of their own places to potter.

PRICE: £340.00 (£12.16pppn)* for seven nights' self-catered accommodation arriving 11th November 2017. Sleeps four in two bedrooms with one pet welcome. To book, visit www.cottages.com or call 0345 498 6900.

Greenway Apartment – Galmpton

Property reference: NT012044

This amazing National Trust Holiday Cottage was the holiday home of Agatha Christie and serves as the setting for three of her novels: Five Little Pigs, Dead Man's Folly and Ordeal by Innocence.

This first and second floor apartment, located above the visited areas of Greenway House, is still home to some of Christie's furniture, including the typewriter she used to write many of her books!

The perfect place to visit before Murder on the Orient Express returns to the silver screen in November, it is also close to Christie favourites such as the Grand Hotel at Torquay, Paignton Zoo and Dartmouth.

PRICE: £876 (£36.52pppn)* for three nights' self-catered accommodation arriving 3rd October 2017. Sleeps eight in four bedrooms. To book, visit <http://www.english-country-cottages.co.uk/> or call 0345 268 0785.

Campbell's Close Apt - Edinburgh

Property reference: UGF

Though London's Baker Street may spring to mind when you think of Sherlock Holmes, but author Arthur Conan Doyle's home city was Edinburgh.

Close to the centre, yet boasting a quiet location, this attractive and spacious ground floor holiday apartment is part of an old brewery conversion amidst beautiful landscaped gardens.

Princes Street and Edinburgh Castle are just a short walk away, but it's No.11 Picardy Place where Conan Doyle was born in 1859.

Visit Edinburgh today and you'll see a statue of Sherlock and a pub called The Conan Doyle just over the road – the perfect place for celebration!

PRICE: £489 (£30.58pppn)* for four nights' self-catered accommodation arriving 11th September 2017. Sleeps four in two bedrooms. To book, visit www.scottish-country-cottages.co.uk or call 0345 268 0801.
