

From Screen to Staycation

Fans of Reverend Geraldine Granger, Councillor David Horton and Owen Newitt can now look forward to a getaway in Dibley, as the latest property to join cottages.com is located directly opposite 'St Barnabus Church' in the quaint village of Turnville.

The Cart Shed (property reference: UKC3152) is the only short-term holiday let available in the village, which was used as the home of the BBC's classic sitcom The Vicar of Dibley between 1994 – 1998 and the specials that followed. The village's St Mary the Virgin Church, which millions around the world instantly recognise as Dibley's 'St Barnabus Church,' is a mere stone's throw away, making this property a must-visit for all fans of the show.

Sleeping two people, the studio property is stylishly decorated and great for couples. Close to Henley-on-Thames, after exploring the local area holidaymakers can tuck into a delicious meal at Turville's country pub and wander along the high-street to see some of the most attractive period properties in the country. Soak up the sun in the garden on warm days, and, for when the temperatures start to fall, the property comes complete with underfloor heating that will make it even cosier on those cold nights.

Dawn French's sitcom isn't the only time the pretty village has played a starring role though, as shows and films including Midsomer Murders, Miss Marple, Goodnight Mister Tom and Chitty

Chitty Bang Bang – which turns 50 this year – have also used its picturesque streets for the screen. Cobstone Mill, the windmill from the latter, is also a must-see.

Available from only £713 (£50.92pppn)* for seven nights' self-catered accommodation, for more information and to book, visit www.cottages.com/cottages/the-cart-shed-ukc3152.
